March for Babies

April 26th, 2014

We had great participation this year with all stations covered. There is plenty of room along the route to place more people so please think about volunteering next year. Bill – KI4ZMV and Patrick – KI4CDY walked the full route. The pictures are on the blog for all to see.

Field Day is Coming

June 28 & 29

Want to give your wife a great present? Come to field day and leave the house quiet for her for a day or two.

Daniel Noah has been a meteorologist with the National Weather Service for over 25 years and is currently the Warning Coordination Meteorologist at the Tampa Bay office.

He received his Bachelor of Science in Meteorology from the University Of North Dakota where he worked on research involving aircraft icing and microbursts. Dan has forecast tornadoes in Wisconsin, blizzards and 46 below temperatures in North Dakota, and currently enjoys forecasting tropical meteorology in Florida. Because of his cold weather experience, Dan and Janet (his wife of 26 years) have vowed never to live North of Interstate 4.
